That many of you were unable to get The Sunday Sun last Sunday seems certain, as early in the day newsdealers were very generally sold out clean. Because of the incomparably fast-mounting sale of the weekday issues, we were sure there would be a heavy demand for the Sunday, so increased the edition by more than fifty per cent. over the preceding week, but this increase fell far short of meeting the requirements.

I fear we shall not be able to come much nearer the mark for next Sunday unless you come to our aid at once with your order for The Sunday Sun. May I not, therefore, urge you to leave your order with your newsdealer immediately on reading this notice, so that he can send us a corrected order that will insure you getting The Sunday Sun?
